Bomarzo is located in the hills (270 meters above sea level) from which dominates the Tiber valley, to the viewer, the view is magnificent. It is well connected to Viterbo by the Superstrada (15 Km) and by bus lines, which also connect it with the railway stations of Orte and Attigliano, which are just a few minutes away. The airports of Rome Fiumicino and Perugia are about 80 and 70 km away respectively. Bomarzo boasts the presence of the "Sacro Bosco" better known as "Parco dei Mostri", with its gigantic and disquieting stone figures arranged among the vegetation in an enchanting amphitheater natural. From above, the Parco dei Mostri is dominated by the majestic "Palazzo Orsini", surrounded by the historic center, dating back to the 16th century. Bomarzo, the ancient "Polimartium", preserves important Etruscan and Roman sites in its territory, woods of exceptional environmental and landscape value, suggestive archaeological-naturalist routes (Montecasoli Nature Reserve, Malva, Piamiano, Santa Cecilia). There are many memories of a glorious past, from the necropolis to the "Etruscan Pyramid", to the Roman architectural monuments. The Etruscan Pyramid, brought to light in 2002 and hitherto hidden by the vegetation of the forest, arouses great interest both for the preciousness of the artifact, as well as for the many mysteries that surround it. Also called "Sasso del predicatore", it is the largest and most impressive rock altar to date discovered in the world of the Etruscans (16 meters high for a total width of over 4 meters). This Etruscan wonder is not far from "Toy House for tourists", in an area of ☐☐Bomarzo called "Valle del Tacchiolo", a forest that preserves archaeological jewels, rich in finds, and settlements belonging to the Etruscan period, but also protohistoric and early Christian. A few meters further on rises the Chia tower, and the torrents that flow among the typical Tuscia vegetation, the waterways intertwine and chase each other in a marvelous natural spectacle, forming some beautiful waterfalls. In this wonderful scenery Pier Paolo Pasolini toured the scenes of his film "The Gospel according to Matthew" HOUSE OF TOY APARTMENT FOR TOURISTS for an unforgettable stay in Bomarzo, pampered by the charm of this small apartment, which with our family we try to take care of better, in the attention for the guests and in the kindness that we always like to show.
